- CIS 106
- CIS 107
- CIS 108
- CIS 124
- CIS 125

- Personal Responsibility

Examples of assignments include
Portfolios
Exams
Written reports
Simulated performances

Performance/demonstrations

2. Work with all other instructors who teach this course to develop a rubric or grading scale that articulates in words how you grade the assignment. What components compose an A on this assignment? B? Etc. Define each level. (See example below for CIS 101)

3. Decide an acceptable performance on this assignment for students to satisfactorily meet the core competency(ies). (For example, at least 70% of the students should earn at least 70% on the assignment.)

4. Submit the information to Maria by May 23. (See form below)

5. Include wording about SLOs in syllabi for Fall 2008. (Examples will be provided)

Deadline: During Fall 2008 Semester

All instructors in all sections of this course administer the chosen assignment and assess students using rubric or grading scale that was developed

Collect graded assignments and store in an agreed upon location.

Deadline: Spring 2009

Review graded assignments and discuss results with all instructors who administered the assignment.

Determine if strategy is working. If strategies are not working, discuss ways to improve student performance and repeat 2009-2010.

Submit a summary of progress.
WEB SITE EVALUATION ASSIGNMENT RUBRIC

This assignment is one of the pieces of evidence for communication, critical thinking, information competency, and personal responsibility.

Students who complete this assignment with at least a 70% will demonstrate that they can communicate thoughts and ideas in writing; and compose and create reports with correct grammar, punctuation, spelling, style, and format. They will also demonstrate the ability to analyze information and differentiate between facts and assumptions. And finally, students will demonstrate personal responsibility by meeting a deadline.

Evaluate a web site using criteria to determine if the information is credible, reliable, and valuable. Write an evaluation demonstrating writing competencies at the college level.
