RICHARD MONTAÑEZ

IVC Convocation 2025 - Keynote Speaker

Former Vice President, Multicultural Sales & Community Activation for PepsiCo North America. Richard Montañez, a former long-serving PepsiCo executive, has transitioned into a legendary inventor, accomplished author, and highly sought speaker. He began as a janitor at Frito-Lay in 1976 but went on to create the Flamin' Hot product line, which evolved into both a billion-dollar enterprise and a cultural phenomenon. Recognized for his innovation and leadership, Montañez has received numerous awards and made history as the first Latino board member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), an organization founded by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. As a captivating speaker, Richard Montañez has engaged Fortune 500 companies and esteemed academic institutions. His remarkable journey, extensively covered in the media, was chronicled in the best-selling Penguin Random House book 'Flamin' Hot.' The book's success led to its optioning for a film adaptation directed by Eva Longoria. The biopic premiered on both Disney+ and Hulu, achieving the remarkable feat of becoming the 5th most-streamed film in its debut week. Richard Montañez's inspiring story continues to fuel innovation and resilience, resonating with audiences worldwide.
